

Abstract

The invention concerns reactive polymers and copolymers based on N-(2hydroxypropyl) methacrylamide, which contain reactive thiazolidine-2-thione groups in side chains of the polymers or at the ends of polymer chains. The solution also includes a method of their preparation and their use for synthesis of polymer drugs and conjugates with proteins and preparation of gene delivery systems.